R&B / SOUL / FUNK

FROM RAP ROOTS TO A WIDER SOUND.

Born and raised in the GTA, Nathan Carter began as a rapper and producer before relocating to Saskatoon. As Spooky, he is evolving into a genre-merging artist working in live, instrument-driven R&B, soul and funk—music built on real instruments, real people and the rhythmic instincts of his earliest work.

That evolution moves through film as much as music. Carter is a self-shooting filmmaker and the creator of Off The Record, a docuseries where he travels to different countries, embeds in the local music scene, and makes new music with the musicians he meets. He self-funded and filmed the Mexico City pilot episode; future legs are planned for Medellín, Rio, Jamaica and the United States.

His released music includes “Missin Home” (2023) and “In My Business” (2026), made with his sister, singer Néomie Monique.

His foundation: piano from age five, Royal Conservatory Grade 8 with advanced theory, professional sound engineering since 2017 and 10+ years as a professional musician. He drums for Rusted Pistol, plays piano with Galactic Super Heavy, and has performed across AB, SK, ON and QC.
